In 2017, substance use cost Canadians a total of $46 BILLION, which amounts to almost $1,260 for every Canadian regardless of age.

The overall costs attributable to substance use in billions include:
- Healthcare: $13.1 billion (28.4%)
- Lost Productivity: $9.2 billion (20.1%)
- Criminal Justice: $3.6 billion (7.9%)
- Other Direct: $20.0 billion (43.2%)

Per person costs attributable to substance use:
- Alcohol: $448
- Tobacco: $445
- Cannabis: $355
- Opioids: $336
- Other CNS depressants: $156
- Other CNS stimulants: $136
- Other substances: $103

Almost 70% of the total costs are due to alcohol and tobacco.

More information can be found at www.csuch.ca.